Seems reasonable to me. If you drop off the paperwork I will call to verify that insurance paid. Thanks,

Kevin

Hi Kevin-

I am going through some loose paperwork at my desk (Oh No), and came across this site. I have the DO report made, notes from you regarding the cleanup, a letter from the RP about contacting insurance for costs, and a bid waiver. The site is closed in spills and the work completed, but we assigned a leak# in case they wished to apply for reimbursement. I don't believe they applied, in fact I think insurance may have paid for this. If that is the case, I would like to delete the L#, but give you back the paperwork. Does that seem reasonable?
